In 1991, the survey questionnaire was changed to measure "other temporary" employment as a separate category. Data only include U.S.-educated PhDs who remained in the U.S. after earning their degrees.